its undertaking, as this; and so much greater the necessity, therefore, that special pains should be taken to render it secure and reliable. An inquiry into all the fearful accidents that have frequently startled the community, shows that carelessness is at the bottom of them all. Defective boilers, imperfect machinery, and inefficient commanders, generally make up the sum total of the causes of the catastrophes. Now, is there not reason enough to demand on the part of the proprietors of steamboats the greatest care and foresight to prevent accidents? No source of wealth is more productive or better sustained by an indulgent public; and it is the interest, therefore, of the moneyed proprietors to see that nothing is left undone to promote the safety, comfort and convenience of their patrons.

Let the officers of the boat be efficient and courteous, the fare reasonable, the craft sound, and the accommodations good, and the support of the public will certainly follow; but should a repetition of the Henry Clay disaster occur this season, then all travel between here and Albany by water will cease; the floating palaces now built, or in progress of construction, will either have to run in some other waters or be converted into towboats. Then railroad companies having the preference, they will be able to convey passengers along the line of their route just as cheap as the steamboat owners could, who, by close attention to their business and to the wants of the passengers, might, if their avarice did not prevent them be able to command the greater part of the traffic between here and Albany.

THE NEW YORK DEMOCRACY IN MOTION .-Some time ago the hard shell democracy of this great commonwealth appointed a State Convention of their party, to meet at Syracuse on the 12th of July, in the hottest of the hot weather, from which hot work may be expected. The Central Committee of the soft shell demoeracy, on the other hand, on the 10th instant, at Albany, decreed their State Convention at Syracuse on the 6th of September, the meeting to take place at Market Hall, precisely in the middle of the day. Resolutions were passed at the aforesaid Albany central meeting on the 10th, declaratory of the continued confidence of the soft shells in General Pierce and Governor Seymour; but witholding any expression of opinion on the Nebraska question till the 6th of September. This allows a fair margin for deliberation, and the "sober second thought." We are sorry, however, to say that the prospect of a fusion between the hards and softs is still remarkably slim. Marcy, perhaps, may attempt it by deserting the administration; but we can form no reliable judgment upon the ease until the passage of the Nebraska bill. Let that bill be passed, and we shall have a reconstruction of the New York democracy inevitably. In this view the hards hold over till the middle of July, and the softs, who require more time, till the sixth of September. Pass SANITARY RESULTS OF THE SEVERE WINTER. -The severity of the season through which we have just passed, marked as it has been latterby by sudden and violent atmospheric changes. has been productive of more than the usual amount of epidemical disorders. Smallpox and fevers of a typhoid character have been more than usually prevalent amongst the poor; but attacks arising from biliary disarrangement, accompanied with periosteal rheumatism, and assuming something of an epidemic form have been the predominant complaints amongst all classes of the population. Pulmonary diseases also show a large increase. It is curious that whenever we have a winter of more than average severity, the prevailing epidemic which it brings generally differs in its character from that which preceded it. In the winter of 1852 when the cold was so intense, scarletena was the prevailing disorder, but it was principally confined to children, and there was a less amount than usual of other complaints among the adult population. But the city was never healthier than it is now.

The Submarine Transatlantic Telegrap This great scheme for connecting the Old and New Worlds, which originated with some of our enter-prising countrymen some three years ago, is still talked of by leading capitalists. We believe that the project was first broached by petitions, which were simultaneously presented to the Parliament of Great Britain and the Congress of the United States; but it

Britain and the Congress of the United States; but it was not until Lieutenant Maury's report was received that people thought the accomplishment of such an enterprise within the bounds of possibility.

That report, our readers will remember, was published in the month of February last, and is in favor of the scheme. From Cape Freel's, Newfoundland, to Erie's Head, Ireland, the distance is only one thousand six hunmed and eleven miles, and the bottom of the son between the two places is a plateau, which is precisely what is re-quired for the purpose of holding the wiggs of a submarine telegraph and keeping them out of harm's way. It is nei-ther too deep nor too shallow; yet is so deep that the wires being once landed will remain forever beyond the reach of vessels, anchors, icebergs and drifts of any kind; and so shallow that the wires may be readily lodged upon the bottom. Thus the great difficulty apprehended was discovered to be no difficulty at all. Lieutenant Maury suggested the propriety of an offer of a national prize the company through whose telegraphic wire the first message should be passed across the Atlantic. We do not doubt that such a suggestion would not be lost sight of in the proper quarters; and, if so, we have reas believe that it will ere long be bestowed upon the New York, Newfoundland and London Electric Telegraph Com-

A bill has already passed the Colonial Legislature to incorporate a company under this designation, with a capital of fifteen hundred thousand dollars, in shares of one hundred dollars each, with power to increase the stocks to three millions. It grants to the company, or the completion of the line to Cape Ray, or to any other point on the west coast of Newfoundland, land in blocks point on the west coast of Newtonians, and the extent of fifty miles square. It gives the company, on the construction of every hundred miles of roads, and bridges, eight feet ride, from St. John's to Cape Ray, and Trepassy £1,500, wide, from St. John's to Cape Ray, and Trepassy £1,800, to the extent of £5,000. It exempts all materials im-ported for the telegraph works from all duties. It gives this company the sole and exclusive right to build, oc-cupy, take, or work this or any other line of telegraph (except the existing line between St. John's and Car-bonear) for fifty years—the Colony having the right to purchase the lines of telegraph and property of the com-pany, after twenty years, at a fair valuation. It guarantees the interest, by the Colony, of five per cent on the company's bonds of £1,000 sterling, each, the bonds payable in twenty years in London, the Colony having a prior lien on all the telegraph lines, property, and works of the company in the laland to the conti-nent of America. The bonds to be delivered to the company as follows:—Ten when they begin operations ten when the telegraph roads and bridges are complete to Cape Ray; and the remaining thirty when the tele-graph is completed from St. John's to Prince Edward Island or Nova Scotia.

It provides that the directors of the company may be It provides that the directors of the company may be indiscriminately citizens of the United States or subjects of her Majesty the Queen, and that the meetings of the stockholders and directors shall be held in New York, in London, and in the Island, as the directors may from time to time determine, but that there shall always be a local manager in the Colony.

The act also provides that "so soon as a message shall have been actually transmitted by the said company across the Atlantic Ocean, by means of a sub-merine cable or wire, the company shall receive a grant of fifty square miles of land, to be selected by the company, in addition to the grants previously mentioned."

The St. John's Morning Post, from which we have

The St. John's Morning Post, from which we have gleaned the foregoing particulars, is in eastacy at the realization of its hopes. It says truly:—"From this time we may date a new era in the history of Newfoundland; we may date a new era in the history of Newfoundland; the present forms the starting point from which abe eners upon a career of progress and improvement which will throw behind where her shadow falls any of the other colonies which had given promise of heading us so fast and far as to less sight of us altogether." The same paper adds.—"It is understood that the Governor's assent will shortly be given to the bill, which will then become a law—the wisest, the best, and the most important law ever pased in Newfoundland." Of this there can be little doubt, seeing that it is the most stupendous scheme that genins ever suggested or enterprise dared to carry out.

The health of this city, at the present time, and, in-deed, we may include the whole country, is unusually good, and this is the more astonishing when we take into consideration that for six months past, that dreadful scourge, the cholera, has been making sad ravages among the population of Europe, and taken off great numbers of passengers from emigrant vessels bound to the United

this city, and raged with fearfully destructive virulence during the entire summer, not only in New York, but in during the entire summer, not only in New York, but in nearly every city in the Union; and great fears have been entertained that the present season would again witness the death-dealingwork of the epidemic; and its progress on the Eastern Continent bearing such a similarity in its visi-tations to its previous course, certainly furnished a foun-dation for such a belief. Our city, too, during the most part of the past winter, was allowed to remain in such a filthy condition that the citizens began to be alarmed lest the sickness should actually thereby be invited to our shores; which fears at last broke out in such unmis takeable sentiments of condemnation, that our dormant authorities were roused to a sense of their duty, and up to the present time, our streets have been kept compara-tively clean. Whether we shall be able to pass the summer without again being visited by the epidemic, we will not venture to predict; but we nevertheless hope, that by a proper observance of sanitary measures, and with neces-sary precaution, we shall be able to confine the mortality to the ordinary diseases.

Our weekly reports of deaths during the last few weeks have shown as small a number as the corresponding time in any previous year, taking into consideration the increased population; and we can see no reason at present why the number during the ensuing three months should not be confined within the aggregate of the most healthy seasons. All care should be taken, and cleanliness and moderation, both in eating and drinking, should be our greatest regard.

Smallpox has carried off an unusually large number of victims during the past winter; but we are happy to say that that loathsome disease has now almost entirely disappeared, and the mortality record in this city has shown a gradual decrease of death from all diseases for some ime past.

The reports from other cities represent them also as The reports from other cities represent them also as being remarkably healthy. In Boston, where the small-pox has been doing its work during the winter, we find that disease has entirely disappeared, not a single death from it having occurred during the past week, and the from it having occurred during the past week, and the diminished number of deaths, as shown in the weekly reports, gives promise of a healthy season. The same may be said of all the Eastern cities, as well as of Philadelphia and Baltimore. New Orleans is uncommonly healthy for the season, and although it is as warm there now as it is in our latitude in the middle of June, and within ten days of the time of the breaking out of the yellow fever there last summer, nothing has as yet occurred to cause the least fear that the epidemic will return. That there will be cases of yellow fever in most of the Southern cities no one will question, as hardly a summer passes without some of the unacclimated citizens of those places being carried off with that disease; but it is only when it comes in an epidemic form, as was the case last sumcomes in an epidemic form, as was the case last sum-mer, that it is so much dreaded, and proves so destruc-tive to human life. The papers of Wilmington, Charles-ton. Savannah and Mobile, are all giving testimony of the general good health of their respective places, and all are rejoicing in the prospect of passing through the season without the recurrence of the dreadful scenes which follow in the wake of the yellow fever epidemic.

From the West the accounts are not quite so cheering, as we frequently see statements of the breaking out of the cholera in some of the river towns, and also among the cholera in some of the river towns, and also among emigrants on board steamboats on the Mississippi and its tributaries. But aside from these isolated and temporary instances of unhealthiness, the cities of Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Louisville and St. Louis, are represented as being as healthy at the present time as they ever were during the most favored seasons. It behooves us now, as recipients of this great blessing, not only to pray for its continuance throughout the length and breadth of our common country, but to exercise all our energies in preventing the visitation of a pestilence and the spread of contagion.

Common Pleas—Special Term. Before Hon. Judge Daly. INJUNCTION MADE PERPETUAL AGAINST THE COMMIS

INJUNCTION MADE PERPETUAL AGAINST THE COMMISSIONERS OF EMIGRATION.

MAY 13.—Heack agt. the Commissioners of Emigration.—The averment in the answer, that one of the defendants, the Mayor of Brooklyn, is not a resident of the city, does not show a want of jurisdiction. He may have been served with process in this city. But independent of this the defendants are public officers, within the meaning of the second sub. div. of s. 124 of the code. The act complained of was done by them in virtue of their office, and the subject of the action, the alleged nuisance, is situated within the city and county of New York, which is sufficient to give the Court jurisdiction. The main question upon this motion, whether the defendants ought to be permanished.

and county of New York, which is sufficient to give the Court jurisdiction. The main question upon his motion, whether the defendants ought to be permanently restrained, should not be disposed of upon pleading. It comes within the class of cases which it is proper that a jury should pass upon. Earlof Ripon vs. Hobart, S Myine and Keene, 169 Waiter vs. Self, 15 Jurists, 416. J. Stong, Eaq., Jr., s. 923. Sufficient, however, appears upon the pleadings to warrant the continuance of the injunction until the verdict of the jury is had. I shall, therefore, direct that the proper issues be found, and that the granting of a permanent injunction depend upon the flading of the jury upon these issues.

Thomas Chalmers agt. the Commissioners of Emigration.—There is no ground for continuing this injunction it appears that the office in Canal street has not been used since last August as a place of reception of diseased emigrants, but as an office where emigrants might obtain information as to the best routes or modes of conveyance to other parts of the country, or as an incligence office, for the benefit of persons in search of employment. It was formerly used as a temporary ledging house for destilled or the shall when the facts occurred which are detailed in the affidavits of the plaintif's witnesses, it may be that they refer to occurrences which took place before August last. The affidavits of the defendants, on the other hand, are explicit, and show conclusively that the use and purpose to which this office is Canal street is now applied, does not render it a nuisance.
